

Sending my son to the Big Apple School was the best thing I could have done for him. My son learned how to be independent and make decisions that have a positive outcome. As he grows, he continues to follow a pattern of excellence, but what really sets the school apart from others is the teachers and staff.

They encourage the children to be self-starters and take initiative, challenging each child to excel academically at their own pace. This is by far an educationally superior school with highly experienced and dedicated teachers. The school's academic program encourages children to ask questions, use their imaginations, take time and care with their assignments, and to make the most of each day.

From the very start, we were impressed with the home teacher (Ms. Faina). She has a true passion for what she does and is deeply dedicated to the emotional well being of all the children. She is able to provide the perfect balance of discipline and compassion that has really helped my child to excel.

My son has become very confident in his problem solving abilities, independent and very self-reliant. He was taught the fundamentals of consistency and organization that gave him the tools he needs to have a successful academic career.

The Big Apple School's standards surpassed our expectations and made learning a truly wonderful experience for my son.
